The copying of DVD's and CD's is an accepted and acceptable part of life in the World Wide Web today for many. However, it remains theft.

At Holistic Health Training, our Mission Statement outlines our belief that money should not restrict education and training to a wealthy few. We make every attempt to keep our fees and charges at a level where learning is available to everyone.

We realise we can't stop you from copying or sharing the information you are buying. If we found out this had happened, we reserve the right to prosecute under Intellectual Property law, withdraw you without refund from any course you are doing with us, and notify any other relevant stakeholders such as other training organisations.

In reality, we are unlikely to find out. So all we can do is rely on the honesty and integrity of the kinds of people who want to be healers. Your ethical standards are our only protection. Please do not steal from us by sharing or copying this information.

As when you purchase DVD's or CD's from retailers, we will not refund your money once the disc has been removed from its cover unless the disc is faulty . Should this be so, please notify us at once for a replacement.

Please remain mindful of the Health and Safety disclaimers in the Training Presentation and manual. If you have queries, please contact us. We will send your DVD and manual as soon as we have received your order form, payment and this signed contract. No faxed copies sorry.
